• A new three-way system developed and manufactured by Thiel, using metal driver diaphragms. Its main features are its wide soundstage, the latest “Coherent Source” Series sound performance, its exceptional speed and flexibility, and the addition of a livelier feel. As well, the overall speaker weight has been sufficiently reduced. So, Thiel has not overlooked any important characteristics.

• The essence of this speaker is, without a doubt, the fact that it has the quality of the higher-priced CS6 at a lower price. As all of the drivers are developed in-house, Thiel has been able to eliminate unwanted resonances and correct irregularities that can be found in other manufacturer’s drivers. From the beginning, they have shown a clear and realistic sound, and have proved that they are at the top of America’s high-end.
